

Ossining Summer Concert Series

Beginning on Friday, July 10th bands will take the stage at Louis Engel Waterfront Park each Friday for a 7:00pm show. The six concert series, features a variety of local performers and runs through August 21st. Musical acts cover a wide range of genres from classic rock, pop, latin and jazz, to urban folk, funk, and R&B. Concertgoers are encouraged to bring blankets or foldable chairs for seating. Picnics are welcome and food will also be available for purchase.

All concerts take place at Louis Engel Waterfront Park. In the event of rain, the concerts will be held at the Ossining Public Library's Budarz Theater.

Friday, July 10: Powderfinger – Considered by many classic rock fans to be among the top bands in the tri-state area, Powderfinger includes Bob Goetz, bass and vocals; Norman Dodge, guitar and vocals; and Ronnie Negro, drums and vocals. From The Allman Brothers to ZZ Top and everything in between, Powderfinger play the songs the way you know and love them.

Friday, July 17: Marc Berger – Enjoy an outdoor musical performance of American West originals by Marc Berger. Marc's music captures the vastness and romance of the West while exploring its deep roots in the American psyche. He has opened shows for Bob Dylan and other national acts.

Friday, July 24: Ricardo Gautreau Trio – The Ricardo Gautreau Trio offers a refreshing blend of rock, Latin and jazz that is beyond category. Band members include Ricardo Gautreau, vocals and guitar; Doug Munro, lead guitar; and Ariel de la Portilla, bass. Ricardo's songs have won commendations from the Billboard Magazine competition and have been published in Sing Out! magazine.

Friday, July 31: Teri Lamar and New Company – Voted "Westchester's Friendliest Band" by More Sugar Magazine, Teri Lamar and New Company's musical versatility ranges from smooth jazz and rock n roll to Motown and R&B. Band members include Teri Lamar, lead and background vocals; Jamie Bannon, guitar, lead and background vocals; and Frank Brenna, keyboard, bass, lead and background vocals.

Friday, August 14: KJ Denhart – Consistently praised for her pathos, originality and impeccable musicianship, Ossining's own KJ Denhart moves audiences to laugh, dance and even to cry. Her special blend of urban folk and jazz has earned her four Independent Music Award nominations and, in 2009, a spot as one of Jazz.com's top female vocalists.

Friday, August 21: Old Mill Singers – The Old Mill Singers have been entertaining Westchester audiences for more than 40 years. Conducted by Danny Gray, an internationally honored film and concert composer, the popular community choral group is based in Ossining and covers a variety of musical genres.
